Distant Brothers History Relations Bruderhof
The Bruderhof is an Anabaptist Christian movement that was founded in Germany in 1920 by Eberhard Arnold. The movement has communities in the United States, the United Kingdom, Germany, Austria, Paraguay, and Australia. The Bruderhof practises believer's baptism, non-violence and peacemaking, common ownership, the proclamation of the gospel, and lifelong faithfulness in marriage. The Bruderhof is an intentional community as defined by the Fellowship for Intentional Community. The communities are

One of the most widely publicized communal groups to survive in modern times is the Bruderhof movement (Society of Brothers, or Hutterian Brethren). Founded in Germany in 1920 by Eberhard Arnold, the group has survived for over 70 years. Although they have sought full organic merger with the much older Hutterite group (founded in 1528) who live ...

Ex-Bruderhofers Speak Out
The name "Bruderhof" means "Place of the brothers." It's a German word first used for Anabaptist communities in the sixteenth century ("hof" means place or courtyard). Yes, it really should be "place of brothers, sisters, and children" but that would make it awfully long and even harder to pronounce.
